

E-logbook

Aims and Objectives

Aim:

- Introduce the concept of e-logbook to new dental core trainees while reinforcing completion advice for returning trainees.

Objectives:

- Discuss what is involved in creating and maintaining an e-logbook
- Discuss the importance of the e-logbook for dental core training
- Identify where to record as part of e-portfolio

What is the E-logbook?

The e-logbook is a confidential, complete electronic record of procedures that you have carried out, assisted or observed throughout your dental core training year.

Can be maintained through an official site, such as a surgical e-logbook, or using an Excel/PDF/Word document.

Uploaded as part of your evidence for IRCP and FRCP.

Why is it Important?

Requirement for successful completion of your dental core training

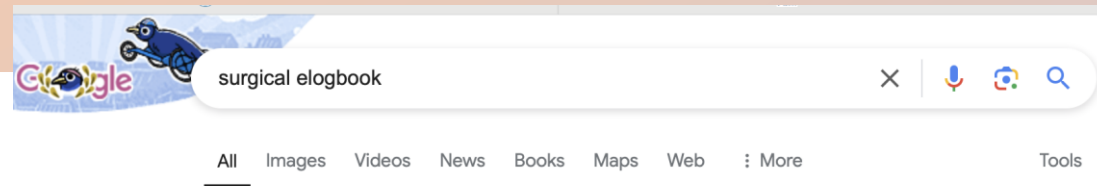

- Publish logbook on your e-portfolio that is clearly labelled and completed to within 4 weeks of the date of Interim RCP and Final RCP

Options on How to Record

eLogbook - the Pan-Surgical Electronic Logbook for the United Kingdom & Ireland

The Pan-Surgical Logbook has been developed to support surgeons of all grades and all Specialties in the United Kingdom and Ireland.

The eLogbook has been developed in close co-operation with the Specialty Associations to provide a whole of life service to surgeons of whatever specialty. It will build up a complete record of your work, it will inform appraisals, it can contain a record of your CPD and shortly it will be able to provide reports in support of re-validation and re-certification.

You should start your logbook as soon as possible - as soon as you start training in whatever capacity. At present, there are over 22,000 active users worldwide and over 65 million operation records. The logbook developers are committed to provide seamless integration to any future vehicle adopted by the official training body that requires training data for the purposes of assessing surgical training. As a mainstream tool, irrespective of your specialty, the future of the eLogbook is assured.

Users should also be reassured that data will not be released to any 3rd party without the user's prior expressed consent.
